No further payments will be made on any date after such event determination date.

Termination on the maturity date. If the product has not terminated early, on the maturity date, you will receive:

- (1) if the final reference level of the worst performing share is below 75.0 % of its initial price on the redemption valuation date, the Seller shall pay to the Buyer amount of the product of the Current Price of the Worst Performing Share and the Volume within 5 Business Days from the Maturity Date or

This table shows the money you could get back over the next 60 months under different scenarios, assuming that you invest USD 10 000. The scenarios shown illustrate how your investment could perform. You can compare them with the scenarios of other products. The scenarios presented are an estimate of future performance based on evidence from the past on how the value of this investment varies, and are not an exact indicator. What you get will vary depending on how the market performs and how long you keep the product. The stress scenario shows what you might get back in extreme market circumstances, and it does not take into account the situation where we are not able to pay you. In addition, you should note that the results shown for the intermediate holding periods do not reflect estimates of the product's future value. You should therefore not base your investment decision on the results shown for these interim holding periods.

This product cannot be easily cashed in. This means it is difficult to estimate how much you would get back if you cash in before maturity. For more information, see "How long should I hold it and can I take money earlier?" below.

The figures shown include all the costs of the product itself, but may not include all the costs that you pay to your advisor [or distributor (intermediary)]. The figures do not take into account your personal tax situation, which may also affect how much you get back.
